

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH POLICY

At La Joya we understand that taking care of others is the best way to grow and develop. In exchange they are taking care of us. This principle allows us to be a leading industry in the cultivation, collection, extraction and commercialization of vegetable oils and their derivatives.

We consider that it is vital to keep in mind the well-being of our employees, being the management's commitment to provide the human, economic, as well as the technological resource necessary to permanently identify, evaluate and control the risk factors associated with Industrial Safety and Work Health. With current National Legislation, promoting continuous improvement of working conditions, and preventing accidents or occupational diseases to preserve the health and physical integrity of our employees.
